The Philosophy of APU

Ritsumeikan Asia Pacific University was founded in response to the demands of the globalized society in the 21st century, and the coming Asia Pacific Age.

Ritsumeikan Trust holds "liberalism and vivacity" to be its motto and "peace and democracy" as the ideal of its academic affairs. In developing these principles, APU takes the following as its ideals: "liberty, peace, and humanism," "international mutual understanding," and "creation of the future of Asia Pacific."

College of Asia Pacific Studies

The Asia Pacific region, which enjoys diversity in culture, history, society, and natural environment, has come to play an important role in various fields such as economics, culture, science, arts and international relations.

The College of Asia Pacific Studies helps students first of all to understand the diversity of the Asia Pacific region, and to acquire high proficiency in languages. The curriculum, based on such fundamental knowledge, includes the city and the environment; tourism studies in Asia Pacific; and the information media, all of which are crucial to the region's development. With the aim of cultivating future leaders in various global fields, the College provides courses in which students acquire techniques for solving many kinds of problems and for helping develop the Asia Pacific region, including research techniques, and abilities to frame issues, debate, and solve problems.
